PITTSBURG AGAIN WON.

The Phillies Nearly Snatched a Victory in the Ninth. Pittsburgs came within a hair's readth of losing yesterday's game with the Phillies at Pittsburg in the ninth inning owing to Hawley's wildness; but Orth was substituted for Wheeler and his poor work in the box returned the game to the Pirates by the sccre of 6 to 5. Dele hanty made a three-bagger, scoring three runs, which put the visitors one ahead, after the game was apparently lost. The Firates outbatted and outfielded the Phil-

CORCORAN COMES TO TERMS.

The Crack Short Stop Agrees to Sign With Cincinnati. A Circinnati special to the Balt

Sun says: Everybody was astonished to-night to see Thomas Corcoran, the former Brookiyn short stop, walk up into the Gitzon House and register after his expressed determination never to play here. Corcoran said he had been to Indianapolis to see President John T. Brush and had come to terms with him. Corcoran intends to sign a Cincinnati contract tomorrow merning, and he is ready to go into the game at once. He will probably play tomorrow, as Ritchie is not well.

Faults in the Philippelphias Which He Was Engaged to Correct. Manager Stallings of the Philadelphias burg, and was not backward concerning the faults of the Phillies in Thursday's game. In speaking of the game he said: "Why, do you know, Delahanty should have caught Brodie's fly in his teeth, it are minor teams, such as the Linden, Belwas so easy. He loafed on the ball, and field, Wayne and Haddonfield clubs. Crickhen didn't know whether he ought to run after it or not. He played the same on Davis' hit, which he ought to have caught on the fly. It was slow enough. Sickening, wasn't it? That first inning gave me a nightmare, but I am getting used to those kinds of things."

"Have the older leaguers in the Phillies resented the introduction of your meth-ods?" he was asked.

"No, sir. We have systems, and I say "No, sir. We have systems, and I say without any braggadocio that they are good ones. But it isn't so much the teaching as the dumbness of so many in the club. All they think of is their base hits. They imagine, I guess, that there is no use of fielding, but lay awake dreaming that they can go up to that plate and drive every pitcher to the stable. And when they don't swat they are out of the game."

The Redskins and Bluejacks played a very ex-citing game of ball on the Monument grounds this feature of the game was the batting of Littlepage and Johnson for the Redskins, Littlepage making three home runs. The catching of Demain and the pitching of Underwood helped to make the game interesting.

Every decision that the Baltimores kicked on was of the close kind, and could have been decided either way with follows.

The agreement of Tommy Corcoran to play with Cincinnati means a great deal to that club. Tommy is a great fighter, besides a great player, and will help to take that "yellow streak" out of the club's make-up.

It is reported from the west that President Freedman has decided to release Jake Beckley from a New York contract. Jake had batted up to .283 at the beginning of the week, being ahead of such sluggers as Anderson, Everett, Lyons, Griffin, Clements and Burkett, and at fielding was putting up a better game than Jack Doyle, Penney and Latole

A week ago Manager Stallings very emphatically said that Umpire Sheridan had not been drinking while officiating at Louisville. After Tuesday's game, in which the got a leetle the worst of it from Sheridan, Stallings played the baby act by referring to the umpire's aileged drunkenness in the bourbon city.

In the second at St. Louis Tuesday, with one out and two on bases, Jones hit a long fly to deep left, which Turner judged to a nicety right up against the fence. On Tuesday at Chicago there was a funny wind-up. Donahue hit a ball down hard in front of the plate. It bounded as high as a "young" fly, and, apparently, Tim had scored another hit. Not so. With the air of Eve picking apples off the tree faster than nature could put them on, Mahoney, the young giant, swung one arm in the air, caught the ball as it was dodging through a cloud, drew it down, and threw Bridget out at first.—Chicago Tribune.

When Stivitts' tongue was hanging out Tuesday Duffy tried another clever move. He walked to his bench and drew forth a blushing bud, shy and coy, and six feet high. Bill Norr, whose reputation for fairness and impartiality is well known, sizes up Louisville in the following severe manner: "Louisville is absolutely the worst town on the circuit. It should be wiped off the base bail map. The Colonels made a wondrful start, yet less than 1,200 people paid admission today. (First game in Louisville). It will probably be said that 5,000 people were at the park, for Brotherhood figures prevail here."

CRICKET IN AMERICA.

Standing of the English Come in This

The game of cricket has obtained a tena-cious grip on athletics in this country. Its growth has not been rapid, but has been healthy. Some of the most enthusiastic cricketers in the world are to be found in Philadelphia and its environments. Prises have stimulated interest to some extent. There are five clubs competing for the Hallfax cup—Germantown, Belmont, Mer-field, Wayne and Haddonfield clubs. Crick-et has a strong footing at the University of Pennsylvania, whose team has a high rank. The most beautiful cricket grounds in the country are Manheim, the fine old colonial place at Wayne, owned by the Germantown Cricket Club. An entire city square is occupied. The field is covered with closely crepped, well-kept turf, and the pitch is admirable. On three sides are the buildings of the club, from the win-dows, porticos and roofs of which speciadows, porticos and roofs of which specta-tors view the games. A more attractive scene than Manheim on the occasion of a great match cannot be found on an ath-

distribution of the straint straint of the straint ly to Massachusetts. St. Paul's School, at Concord, N. H., sometimes termed the American Rugby, maintains cricket, and sends some good players up to the colleges. The eleven of the Boston Athletic Association played twenty-three games last year. Then there are the Boston Cricket. Club, the Lowells, the Brocktons, the Lynns, Lynn Wanderers, the Zingari, Al-bion of Highlandville, East Bostons, Ev-erett of Everett, Mass., and Merrimack of

For the champiofiship of the New York or Metropolitan district there were five confestants, New Jersey Athletic Club, Manhattan, Staten Island, New York and contestants. New Jersey Athletic Club, Manhattan, Staten Island, New York and the Crescents. The New York Cricket Association also had an exciting series. Those taking part were Paterson, Kings County, Manhattan, Brooklyn, New Jersey A. C., St. George's A. C., Columbia and Hartem.

There is a healthy interest in cricket at Chicago. The Chicago Cricket Association includes St. George, Chicago, Wanderers A and B, Pullman and St. Lawrence clubs. The Australian cricketers paid Chicago a visit las: year, recognizing the establishment of the sport. The Wanderers made a tour of Canadian cities, playing matches at Chatham, London, Hamilton, Toronto and Rosedale. A Toronto eleven went to Chicago and played two matches. The Northwestern Cricket Association held its first tournament at Chicago. Teams from St. Paul and Omaha were present.

San Francisco has the Alameda Cricket Club and Placer county has its elevan. Then there are the Pacific, California, San Jose and Bohemian teams.

THE CROWNING FEATURES.

Spectators Attracted by the Competitors in Tennis Tournament.

A group of spectators yesterday watched the final match in the singles in the tennis tournament for the championship of the south in singles on the courts of the Bachelor Club. Thomas S. Driscoll played E. P. Warfield, and, although the men were not evenly matched, the contest was not without its good points, Driscoll won by score of 6-4; 6-4; 5-7; 6-3. As a result of this game Mr. Driscoil gets the silver pitcher offered as first prize, and will play J. P. Paret today for the championship rophy. A handsome silver bowl, which is second prize, goes to Mr. Warfield Play was also continued yesterday in the doubles. Paret and Davidson beat Warfield and Ogden by a score of 6-4; 6-0. This afternoon the finels will be played between Messrs. Paret and Davidson and Messrs. Driscoll and Goodfellow. In the consolation match Ogden beat Hall, 4-6; 6-1; 6-1. The game between Clay and Ogden was not finished. Clay won the first set by a sc re of 6-1 and Ogden the second set by a score of 6-0.

Interesting Tenpin Match on the Saengerbund Alleys. An interesting tenpin match will be the ne played on the alleys of the Washington Saengerbund tonight between the bowling teams of the Cclumbia Athletic Club and the Baltimore Catholic Club. A series of twelve games have already been rolled, each team winning six. The last set of games, which were played in Baltimore on May 8, resulted in a victory for bowlers, which allowed them to tie the local team, the C. A. C. having been in the lead. At that time it was decided to roll a further set of three games on alleys foreign to both teams, hence the arrangement with the Saengerbund for the use of their alleys tonight. There will be a big crowd of C. A. C. rooters on hand to cheer their team on to victory.

Flight of Birds of the Washington District of the National Federation. Washington District of the National rederation of American Homing Pigeon Fanciers held its second of a series of six races last Sunday, from Kittrell, N. C., airline distance 201 miles. There were entered nearly 500 birds from twenty-five lofts. Weather conditions were bad, Liberator J. . Reid wiring north wind at start. Here there was a strong northeast wind all day; consequently the birds had to fly the full distance against a strong headwind, making high velocities an impossibility. Mr. Harris played three games in the Chess Club Saturday evening, and thereby completed his schedule. He won from Tibbetts and Thomas, and lost to Anthony. Up-to his last gome he had a clean score of victories. His score is quite creditable, and insures him first prize in the tournament. By winning from Harris Anthony tied O'Farrell for second place. Each of these parties has two games yet to play. The result of the game between them will probably settle which will win second prize.

Anthony Banks, an elderly colored man, whom Judge Kimball says spends about one-half of his time in prison, was in the Police Court today because he had been disorderly in the alley where he lives. There was no doubt about the disorder, for There was no doubt about the disorder, for the testimony of the policeman was sub-stantiated by several witnesses. Despite the amount of proof in the case, the old man denied the charge and asked the judge to let him go this time."

"Anthony," said the judge, "it's about time to wear the property of the standard of the said of time you were keeping away from court. You are getting too old now to keep up this manner of living and spending more than one-half of your time in prison."

"I don't spend so much time as that in the workhouse," said Banks.
"How old are you?" the workhouse," said "How old are you?"

"Sixty-seven years." "And your wife—" "I've got one," the prisoner interrupted.
"She's a good woman and you're a bad man," said the judge.
